Title-The Almond Blossom

5h

Medium-Water Colour

This painting is a fresh ray of hope. Just like after every fall season, the trees lose their sheen, there always arrives a spring that brings new life with it in the form of flowers and leaves.

The Covid-19 pandemic has taken away the sheen from our lives and forced us to be holed in our houses, there will be a tomorrow when we will breathe the fresh air and live free again. Our lives will bloom and blossom once again like the beautiful flowers, as bad time never lasts forever.

The artwork is inspired from Vincent Van Gogh's work, 'Almond Blossom'.

Title- Frontline workers

5h

Medium- Poster colours and use of torch

The only thing I could think of while researching and ideating about this topic is the frontline workers being our ray of hope during these tough times. The art piece depicts the trust and the hope that people have from them

Title: A Ray of Hope

5h

Medium-Water Colour

This painting depicts that there is always a ray of hope for every bad thing that happens. 'Social media is fake' is all we say but you should know that there is always hope. The flying bird symbolizes freedom and courage to fly, never give up, and fly high again after falling. There's a hope that's waiting for you in the dark. We are in this together.

Title: A Ray of Hope

5h

A blackhole swallows everything, However, in this painting it is quite the opposite. What holds true is the proverb, there is light at the end of the tunnel. The specks of yellow and red make it more apparent that there is a ray of hope to hold on to.

Title: Transition

5h

Medium- Acrylic, newspaper and magazine clippings

For this mixed media artwork, I have chosen to portray Nelson Mandela whose messages I believe are much relevant today. The composition portrays "A hope for change". The background depicts various movements occurring worldwide, while the white splashes represent equality and harmony as it contains an equal balance of all colours of the spectrum.

Title: Mother- A hope that never dies

5h

Medium-Water Colour

In the following picture I have portrayed the bond between a mother and her child. It shows how a mother will always be protective of her child and will give him/her hope. Same is the case for me with my mother being the sliver of hope in tough times.

The work has been inspired from Gustav Klimt's work, "Mother And Child"

Title - Let The Light Guide Your Way

5h

Medium : Soft Pastels

"Will I be known and loved?" A very famous line from Tame Impala's record, the basis of my piece. In these trying times, it is important to find happiness in the little things, a ray of hope, which can be in the form of a cup of coffee or even an old door, with sunlight pouring inside.

Title-A Ray of Hope

5h

Medium- Water Colour(mostly done with fingers)

This painting shows the different colours of life, that there's still a ray of hope left. We just have to close our eyes and think about it. It's inside us. Waiting to be discovered. In these negative times, it is substantial for us to see the contrasting colours of life, the positives. The positives bring colour to the darkness in our lives. So get up. Think about what's missing in your life and what is that 'ray of hope' which will make it colourful.
